

Antonis Fanouriakis, MD

Antonis Fanouriakis is Assistant Professor of Internal Medicine-Rheumatology in the National & Kapodistrian University of Athens (Rheumatology and Clinical Immunology Unit, “Attikon” General Hospital). His research interests focus on the pathogenesis and treatment of systemic lupus erythematosus, with a particular interest in neuropsychiatric disease. He has participated as lead author in recent versions of EULAR recommendations for the management of systemic lupus erythematosus (2019, 2020, 2023 and 2025).